There's still time to enter the Hampshire Bookshop contest..... still time to be eligible for that wonderful prize of fifty dollars in books of your own selection at the Hampshire Bookshop! Contest rules are simple: any Smith undergraduate may enter, submitting a classified list of the books on her shelves at this moment. The book prize will be awarded to that undergraduate with the best collection of books as determined by the following points: value as a practical college reference library; indication of discriminating judgment in collecting books; value as the nucleus for a personal library after college. The outstanding libraries will be examined in person by one or more of the judges. Judges include two from the College and two from the Hampshire Bookshop.

Deadline for your entry is May 2nd. The winner and those who receive honorable mention will be announced at Last Assembly, May 18th.

Check your house bulletin board for further contest information; leave your entry titles at the Hampshire Bookshop.
